

Abstract of the disclosure:

5       A process for conveniently producing a stable protein powder retaining the higher-order structure at a high level which comprises freezing a protein-containing solution at a cooling rate of about  $-300$  to  $-10^{\circ}\text{C}/\text{min.}$  and then drying.